American Cyber Successfully Completes “Integrated” ISO Audit

Clifton, Va. – July 24, 2019 – American Cyber is pleased to announce it successfully passed an “integrated” ISO 9001, ISO 20000-1, and ISO 27001 surveillance audit on July 22, 2019. Integrating the company’s three ISO certified processes enables American Cyber to optimize its standardized procedures and better manage risks associated with complex projects.

Scott Findley, American Cyber’s VP of Quality Management, led the effort to integrate the company’s Quality Management, Information Technology Services Management and Information Security Management systems into a single management system. This milestone promotes increased efficiency and effectiveness as well as reduces costs while minimizing efforts required for multiple external ISO audits.

In their final report, the external industry-leading auditors acknowledged that “American Cyber Inc. has a well-defined management system that has integrated the quality and service management requirements of ISO, while establishing security as the top priority for continued Government contract staffing operations. The organization continues to develop and refine their operation while maintaining strong business partnerships that widen their opportunities within the Government contracting business environment.”
